CITY MENACED BY FLOOD

PREJUDICE IS CHARGED

CINCINNATI HIT BY HIGH WATER; PEOPLE FLEEING

ROUSH ASKS SERVERS BE RESTRAINED

An appeal from the order of Mayor F. A. Burkhardt, removing him from office, was filed before the municipal civil service commission Saturday noon by O. J. Roush, deposed chief of police. Affidavits of prejudice against Fred W. Zeits and Frank H. Downing accompanied the appeal.

Filing of the paper prior to Saturday afternoon was necessary because Sunday and Monday are holidays.

Roush was suspended on December 16 and under normal conditions would have had until Monday at midnight to file an appeal. The advent of the holidays compelled earlier action.

The appeal is brief, covering two paragraphs of typed matter.

Roush protests and denies the purported order of the mayor removing him from office, a copy of which has been filed with the commission. He charges that the order is not in accordance with law.

However, for the purpose of self protection, in event the order should be proven legal and effective, then and only then for the purpose of preserving his rights, an appeal to the commission is made.

Affidavits of prejudice which accompanied the copy of the appeal are more lengthy.

Roush protests and objects to Fred W. Zeits sitting on the commission and hearing his case, because of alleged bias and prejudice. Zeits will be unable to accord him a fair and impartial trial for these reasons, the affidavit states.

Zeits, it is recited, has interested himself in attempting to procure evidence against the affiant Roush, to be used against him in the hearing. As a member of the commission he has formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the affiant, and has publicly expressed the same. Roush's petition asserts.

It is held by Roush that if Fred W. Zeits is allowed to sit as a member of the commission, a fair and impartial trial cannot be had.

The affidavit of prejudice protesting against Frank H. Downing sitting as a judge on his case, follows similar lines. It is asserted that as attorney for Fred W. Zeits in a $25,000 damage suit pending between Roush and Zeits, Downing is biased and prejudiced against the affiant.

The hearing will involve the truth or falsity of Mayor Burkhardt's charges and as counsel for Zeits, F. W. Downing will be necessarily interested in establishing the truth of the charges as a defense for his client, it is held by Roush.

Both affidavits protest and deny Mayor Burkhardt's order and brand it as illegal.

MAY NULIFY PROCEEDINGS
By an injunction for a restraining order, asking the court to enjoin Burkhardt from enforcing his order of removal, counsel for Roush hope to nullify the entire proceeding to date.

The application was filed Friday and Judge Fred C. Becker has fixed the time for hearing the arguments for Wednesday at 1 p. m.

The civil service commission will be prevented from hearing the case until after the decision of the court, it is expected.

It is not improbable that the commission will appoint a new special board to hear Roush's case if it ever comes up for trial.

TED EXPECTS SANTA GIFT
Promise of a cold wave for tonight doesn't disconcert Ted. He's ready to hang up his stockings, anticipating a Christmas gift of some sort. And he'll be not be disappointed.

Cloudy and much colder tonight, with a cold wave, is the outlook for belated Christmas shopping.

Christmas day is to be fair and colder—that is, the forecaster says so.

REAL KICK FOR CHRISTMAS PIES

SAN FRANCISCO—(By Associated Press)—Christmas pies in San Francisco this year will contain liquor, local pie bakeries having availed themselves of the permission under the law to "pep their pies" with brandy from the government storehouses.

More than 2,500 gallons of brandy were withdrawn the first three days of this week, Tom Brown, assistant federal prohibition director announced.

Under the law pie-makers were allowed 100 gallons and with one exception every baker took the limit.

24 CONVICTS ARE FREED BY HARDING

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—Prison sentences for 24 persons convicted on various charges of hindering the government during the war with Germany, including Eugene V. Debs, former Socialist candidate for president, serving a ten year sentence at Atlanta penitentiary for violating the espionage act, will terminate today under commutations received from President Harding to become effective Christmas Day. At the same time full pardons for the executive will become effective for five former American soldiers serving life sentences for conviction by a military court of the murder of a British officer while serving with the American army on the Rhine.

Action of the president in granting the commutations and pardons was announced yesterday and was taken after lengthy discussion of the situation with Attorney General Daugherty who had ordered the department of justice to make a separate study of the charges of 197 prisoners serving sentences for violation of war-time laws. The commutations, it was explained, do not operate to restore citizenship lost by the felony convictions, but the pardons do.

The state department of education's representation will include seven members of its staff, four of whom will appear at two sessions. Superintendents and teachers in Ohio will make up the bulk of the departmental programs.

Dr. Colvin will be heard three times. During the course of the meeting, he will speak on "The Objectives of Teaching," at the general session Thursday morning; on "Educational Advice—Its Principles and its Administration," at the city superintendent's department, Wednesday afternoon, and on "The Professional Preparation and Equipment of High School Teachers," at the high school department's session, Wednesday morning.

Plans to take care of one of the largest attendances in years are being made for this year's meeting. The program is one of the most pretentious ever offered.

FIVE KILLED, 20 WOUNDED IN UPRISING

CARIO, Egypt.—(By Associated Press).—Disorders in connection with the Egyptian nationalist agitation broke out today in Gizeh, a suburb of Cairo, when a party of students raided the government survey offices. British troops were rushed from Cairo to cope with the disturbance. The students were ultimately ejected. The native losses were given in the early reports as five killed and 20 wounded.

While the disorders were proceeding in Gizeh, Cairo itself remained quiet, and no disturbances from the provinces were reported with the exception of minor troubles at Tanta, fifty miles northwest of Cairo.

The authorities conveyed to Suez today six followers and Said Zagloul Pasha, the nationalist leader forcibly removed from the city yesterday, when Field Marshal Allenby, the British high commissioner in Egypt, had ordered expelled from Cairo.

TEACHERS' MEETING TO OPEN DEC. 27
COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press)—The list of speakers, scheduled to make addresses at the holiday meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' association here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, reads like a page out of an educational Who's Who.

2 CONVICTED SLAYERS ASK NEW TRIALS

DEDHAM, Mass.—(By Associated Press).—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, awaiting sentence after conviction by a jury of the killing of a paymaster and his guard 20 months ago, came into court here again today to hear their counsel plead for a new trial.

The hearing, before Judge Webster Thayer, was on a motion which alleged improprieties in the jury room with regard to the handling of certain bullets in connection with the case.

The prisoners were transferred from the jail to the court room under heavy guard, and officers of state and local forces, mounted and afoot, patrolled the vicinity of the court house.

FULL DRESS BRIGADE TO KEEP LID DOWN

PHILADELPHIA—Fifty prohibition agents, attired in dress suits and led by Harvey L. Duncan, assistant associate prohibition director of Pennsylvania, will appear in the principal hotels, cafes and restaurants of this city tonight.

Reservations for them have been made in all the leading hotels, cafes and restaurants for both Christmas and New Year's celebration.

"We mean to make this Christmas and New Year's the driest on record in Philadelphia," said Mr. Duncan. "Liquor flowed freely in the holiday season last year, but from now on the lid is on tight, and to back up our statement, the full dress brigade will keep a ubiquitous eye open for violations of the Volstead act."

TINSEL CARDS, UNLESS IN ENVELOPES, NOT MAILABLE
There's a package of tinseled Christmas cards at the Lima post office fully three inches thick, that will never reach those to whom they are addressed.

Tinseled cards not enclosed in envelopes are taboo in U. S. mails. A postal employee in a New Jersey city died as the result of poisoning suffered from handling them. Since then they have been ruled out.

The cards will be held for a few days then they will be thrown away, postal officials says.

CINCINNATI—(By Associated Press)—Cincinnati faced a flood menace today as a result of a two days' downpour of rain that was brought to this district by the storm which swept up from the southwest.

Cellars in many districts are filled with water, which sewerage failed to carry from the surface.

The Ohio river is rising at an unprecedented rate. At 7 a. m. today, the gauges at Cincinnati registered 45 feet, a rise of 18 feet in 24 hours. The flood stage above Cincinnati—50 feet—will be reached within a few hours, Weather Forecaster Devereaux states.

Mill creek, the Big and Little Miami and Licking rivers were all beyond their banks today and pouring out great volumes of water into the Ohio. The quick rise of the larger stream was attributed to the flooding of these tributaries by Forecaster Devereaux. The overflowing of Mill creek routed residents of South Cumminsville and St. Bernard from their homes during the early hours of today. Police and firemen cooperated in rescuing household belongings from the swirling waters. The police went thru the district in Cumminsville that is in reach of the waters and warned the people to prepare to leave. In St. Bernard, several gardeners were caught in the flood and had narrow escapes.

6 PERSONS KILLED IN WINDSTORM

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(By Associated Press).—Nine persons, one white man and eight negroes, killed, more than a score injured and property damage roughly estimated at $200,000 today was the known result of a windstorm which late yesterday swept thru half a dozen farming settlements in Crittenden county, Arkansas, across the Mississippi river from this city and apparently spent its force in the village of Clarkdale where a brick store building, in which approximately 50 negro farm hands had taken refuge from the storm, was wrecked.

Payne Harrison, clerk in the store of Banks and Danner, the building demolished at Clarkdale, was the only white person known to have been killed. Mrs. B. B. Booker, whose home was torn from its foundation, was among the seriously injured brought to this city.

Nearly all of the known dead and the most seriously injured were caught in the collapse of the Banks and Danner store. Only meagre reports had been received thus far however from several farming settlements in the path of the storm, the effects of which was felt over an area two miles in width and fifteen miles in length.

The Pennsylvania railroad was forced early today to detour its trains over the Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern railroad at Middletown Junction, Ohio, because the high water covered the tracks at Lebanon.

The water covered Wooster pike at Plainville, and all the camps in that vicinity were under water.

FLOOD IN DOWNPOUR
Because of the quick rise in the water and the lack of preparation for a flood, the loss at these camps was very great. Residents of the lowlands at Milford, Ohio, fled in the downpour of rain, carrying their household goods with them.

North Bend, Ohio, residents were confronted with a different kind of flood. Surface water was drained into entire cellars instead of thru the sewers and as a result a number of families were compelled to move belongings to the upper floors. Evanston, Madisonville and other suburbs reported that cellars were being filled with water.

The overflow from the canal at Lockland, Ohio, sent the water into the street and interfered with street car service.

The Clark-street car line was cut off in Cumminsville.

LARGE SUMS RAISED FOR YULE CHEER

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press).—More than a quarter of a million dollars is to be spent by the Salvation Army in fifteen states known as the Central Territory, to provide Christmas dinner baskets for the poor, according to an advance estimate made today at the Territorial headquarters here by Commissioner William Pearl.

The estimate is based on advance reports from ten cities near Chicago and does not include the money to be spent for candy, toys, fuel and clothing, the total of which will probably exceed that to be spent for the baskets. It is estimated that the total expenditure of the organization for all usual Christmas purposes will run very close to the million dollar mark.

The Central Territory comprises 362 Salvation Army Corps, located in Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Alabama, Texas and Louisiana. Each of these corps will be the center for basket distribution and will provide a grand total of not less than 46,000 baskets, each of which will contain a Christmas dinner for not less than five persons.

FOUR PRISONERS ARE PAROLED

Judge Jackson Bestows Unexpected Christmas Presents.

Four prisoners in the county jail received unexpected Christmas presents Saturday in the form of paroles, signed by Judge Emmett J. Jackson.

The men were committed to jail after being convicted in criminal court for intoxication or the possession of liquor. They had been unable to pay their fines.

Two of the men released are Ben Althoff and Ben Protzman, habitual offenders. Both had been before Jackson repeatedly for being intoxicated. They were released until Monday. If they are able to remain sober, despite the temptation to partake of Christmas cheer in liquid form, the court will make the paroles permanent.

Others released are: E. D. Taylor and Frank Mangin. Both men have been in jail for more than two months. Taylor was arrested at the Marshall House and a quart of "moon" was found in his pocket. He was serving out a $100 fine for transporting liquor.

Mangin was convicted on a similar charge. He was arrested in a raid made by the police on the home of Mrs. Lillie Dickman, 216 N. Central-ave. Nine quarts of champagne, part of the loot stolen from a private vault at the Ohio steel foundry, were in his possession.

"These men have been in jail long enough," said Judge Jackson. "It's Christmas time, and I decided to let them out. The offenses charged are not of a serious nature. I wish there were others I might parole."

WOMEN BEYOND PALE ARE PIVOTS OF DRAMA

(BY JAMES W. DEAN)

NEW YORK — One might surmise from a summary of the current season—successes and failures alike—that the woman who lives and loves beyond the pale of convention is a casual common occurrence in the contemporary life of America.

Some of these plays point a moral—that the wages of sin is death. In others, comedy is fashioned from disrupted homes and broken hearts.

But in most plays of this species the final curtain sets upon a woman embracing the husband of another and a life of ease unmarred by qualms of conscience.

But its very title, "Lilies of the Field," proclaims itself as such a play. Marie Doro is featured.

Others of similar nature introduced this season on Broadway or revived from other seasons for road tours are:

"Back Pay," Fannie Hurst's first play, starring Helen MacKellar.

"The Circle," with Mrs. Leslie Carter and Estelle Winwood, portraying women who leave their husbands for other men.

"Amur," a Theatre Guild production with Florence Eldridge playing the part of a daughter who solves her father's financial difficulties for the aid of her paramour.

"Daddy's Gone A-Hunting," in which Marjorie Rambeau is a wife who leaves her husband to live with another man and finds happiness when he gives her a divorce years later that she may live within convention.

"The Fastest Way," by Eugene Walter, the first great American success of such plays, has been revived and sent on tour with Frances Starr.

"The Gold Diggers," in which Ina Claire was featured last season, is an Avery Hopwood comedy on tour this season.

"The Varying Shore," Elsie Ferguson's newest vehicle.

CANDY WAR BREAKS OUT IN SPENCERVILLE; DOWN GO PRICES OF SWEETS

"Candy, candy everywhere and not a piece to eat," is the hue and cry over Spencerville way. And all because the grocerymen of that thriving village have declared a war on prices.

The "not a piece to eat" section of the phrase is paradoxical, because everybody's eating it—that is, they are buying it, or were when the war began.

One grocerymen will not be out-riced by another. Cards in windows announcing the prices of candy are being changed almost every hour, or were Friday. Highest grade sweets that were selling at 25 cents a pound a week ago, were at 15 cents per 16 ounces Friday. Candy that actually cost 23 cents in Chicago is, or was, selling for 15, 16 and 17 cents per pound. Every grocerymen is, or was offering candy for practically one-third what it cost him.

"Kully gee!" acclaim the kids "I'll be dingle-berried dummed!" wail the grocerymen. "Ah, er, Amen!" shout the shoppers.

And meanwhile the candy war goes one as the hour of old Santa's approach draws near.

TONS OF CHRISTMAS JOY DISTRIBUTED AMONG LIMA KIDDIES BY ELKS LODGE

Several tons of Christmas cheer was dispensed to nearly 1,500 Lima kiddies at Elks Home Saturday afternoon.

The long line of little tots began forming shortly after the noon hour not to be late for the "biggest Christmas" in the city's history. The program got under way at 1:30 p. m. and moved along exactly on schedule.

The large auditorium was packed with boys and girls, who had been invited by the E. P. O. E. to be their Yuletide guests. Santa Claus made his appearance behind two rolenders to the accompaniment of falling snow. An entertainment was given, and two huge accumulations of sacks, candy, nuts, fruit, books and toys were passed out, one to each child by Santa.

Three decorated Christmas trees were ablaze with various colored lights as the first of the procession of little folks wound its way inside the building, the finest some of them had ever entered. No long faces of gloom were visible. Each antlered man on the entertainment committee was ready with the glad hand to welcome the little tots. There was not a sad heart in the entire building as the glad event was carried to a successful conclusion.

The Social Service bureau was given $500 by the Elks with which to buy shoes for the needy poor of the city.

FEW FAIL IN TEST FOR MUNICIPAL POSITIONS; THREE FOR POLICE CHIEF

All of the candidates who took civil service examination for chief of police Tuesday passed, but Morton F. Dawson, appointed chief by Mayor M. A. Burkhardt, stood highest on the list, the commission announced. Others taking the test are: William Keller and Jesse Hargrove.

George Strick, was passed for captain.

Only one patrolman seeking a sergenty failed to qualify. Grant Edwards, Dotson and Watkins same under the wire in the order named. Ward Taylor, former member of the force was permitted to take the examination Friday.

The decision of the commission in this regard may be questioned. All eight civilians who sought places on the department passed, it was announced.

B. J. Rooney led the list of applicants for firemen. There are no positions open at present. All but one applicant for positions as school janitors passed the tests required.

The list examined was larger than usual, due to unemployment, members of the commission believe.

ERIE FORCE REDUCED ALL ALONG THE LINE

Eleven men, or 50 per cent of the Lima force of Erie railroad employees, have been laid off until the first of the year by virtue of general orders issued by officials of the line. E. S. Case, Lima agent, said Saturday.

Eight clerks in the freight house two freight handlers and one telegraph operator at the S. Main-st passenger station are affected by the order.

"The order so far as I know is effective until January 1," Case said Saturday. "Whether the lay off will be of longer duration or not has not been made known to the Lima office," he said.

Large numbers of Erie employees have been laid off indefinitely all along the line, in the company's general policy of cutting down operating expenses.

ETHER IN WHISKEY

Bootleggers Concocting New "Drink of Death."

Dangers are increasing by leaps and bounds from drinking bootleg whisky.

That is the opinion of Lima physicians, who Saturday issued a warning against persons using holiday liquor bought from bootleggers who manufacture their own supplies.

In the past few weeks the amateur distillers operating in Lima have been adding ether to their formula, which gives the drink a kick strong enough to make one drunk after taking only a few swallows.

Ether, according to a Lima physician, is poisonous and endangers the life of the person who takes it in liquor. "If it should be placed in whisky in large quantities it may cause death or permanently affect the brain from paralyzing the brain cells."

Constant users of ether-doped whisky will soon find their judgment and reason greatly impaired and in time they will be completely insane or a paralytic victim, medical authorities say.

When a person first drinks whisky containing ether, a burning sensation is felt in the throat which continues for from five to ten minutes, drinkers state. It soon gives a hilarious feeling to the drinker and produce drunkenness. After the effect has passed away, the consumer of the whisky becomes ill.

Physicians liken the modern bootlegger's idea with the "Ether Frolics" of olden days.

CHRISTMAS TRAFFIC HEAVY ON INTERURBAN AND STEAM ROAD LINES

The Ohio Electric railway made ample provisions Saturday for handling the immense passenger traffic on its interurban and city lines. Thousands of persons from out of the city were brought to Lima and returned to their respective communities during the day. Hundreds of Lima people left Saturday over the Ohio Electric and Western Ohio interurbans to spend the holiday season in other places. Double head-ers were operated on all lines north and south to handle the increased patronage.

Extra street cars were put on all city lines during the afternoon, with the exception of the depot line. Schedules on interurbans were maintained generally after the first morning runs had been made, F. A. Bundy, superintendent, said.

Passenger traffic on all steam roads was practically doubled Saturday, most trains operating thru Lima having extra coaches attached.

SPECIAL SERVICE ON CITY CAR LINES FOR EARLY CHURCHGOERS

Extra car service to accommodate those who desire to attend early church services Christmas morning will be put on by the Ohio Electric Sunday.

Main-st line can be made in the square. The special church car will start from the east end of the Bellefontaine-ave line at 4:35 a. m. and run to the limits of N. Main-st. A car will leave the college, at 4:35 a. m. and run to Main and Wayne-sts and thence north to the end of Main-st. The special service will enable early church goers to attend morning devotional services without inconvenience.

WOMAN SUFFERS INJURY WHEN CAR HITS AN AUTO

Mrs. Blanche McBeth, wife of H. G. McBeth, 711 N. Main-st was recovering Saturday from injuries suffered Friday at 3:30 p. m. when an automobile in which she was riding was struck by a Port Wayne, Van Wert & Lima traction car near her home.

Roy Dobie, was conductor in charge of the car. Mrs. McBeth and her husband were driving into the passage-way which leads to their garage when the car was struck. She suffered painful bruises and injuries to her back and hips.

The interurban car had just left the barns and was proceeding south. Both McBeth and his wife were thrown from the car to the ground. He escaped uninjured.

ROBBED TWICE AT SAME PLACE, LITTLE ASSERTS

Ben Little, 218 Haller-st, has been robbed twice within the past three weeks at the same place, of a total of $63, he told Judge Jackson in criminal court Saturday.

But he didn't think it worth reporting to police, he said.

"What's the use," was his comment. "The police are busy enough with other worries. Why should I add mine? Anyway, the fellows who robbed me might have needed the money."

He didn't seem at all worried about it.

Little declared both robberies took place on Haller-st just off Main-st. Two weeks ago Thursday night he said he was relieved of $60 in cash. Last Thursday, he said, two masked men took $3 from him. They carried guns, Little asserted.

'ROUND LIMA HOUR BY HOUR

BY OH. OH. JACKENRIM

A Page From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:—Up betimes with breakfast of radishes and hen's fruit. Made haste for the post, there standing long, the crowds being mainly foot-ball players and several downes occurred, with losses. And so to office, and came my brother John, now long since out of employment. Seeking I think that I employ him, but very quiet I was, and soon he said he would go South. So I praised his wise decision thereon. And we shook hands kindly. To my barber's where heard much discourse that all women should guardians have appointed by their husbands, friends or relatives thirty days before Christmas. To which I demurred, defending the race, but was overcome by the sad-eyed wild-ere of the steel, who seemingly felt hurt by expenditures the month thru. Met there Ote Davis, the undertaker, who says he enjoyed a wonderful holiday trade, and looks for good business in his line thruout the next several months. George Dennis, the cook, eating others' cooking and calling it quite pert food. Warren Melly, newly come from Detroit, many years journalist, advertising expert and business manager of newspapers here; looking and says he is feeling fit; John Boose, the underwriter and rentier; much depressed with many properties idly standing by; people seem all housed for the winter and no new calls; what has become of the housing campaigns so discoursed by Chambers of Commerce a few months hence; how times changes, or how they change for us. Earl Ludwig, the Jacksonian, being trimmed by Merle; Carl Boop, the old sleight-of-hand man, now farming in German township, which he opines has been the hardest game he ever sat in. Joe Cowan, fox-trotting 'cross Main-st. So to the Cafeteria and there dined among the old dull fellows, and back to my office awhile when came friends to urge my company at a New Year's brawl, which I reluctantly did give, thinking more of the ginger ales and pops than of the merris crowds. It is a great task, I find, to make musiquie in these days of soft voices and soft drinks. So home to dinner. The day endeth with my mind well in quiet. My wife to the making of Christmas pies all day being much wearied.

SHE STEERS ERRING YOUTHS RIGHT!

N. Y. Detective Sergeant Gives Them Another Chance

(BY ALICE ROHE)

NEW YORK — (Special) — Active detective sergeant, first grade, highest ranking officer in the department, assistant commissioner, woman's precinct, City of New York.

This is Mrs. Isabelle Goodwin, and no man can go higher than this active detective sergeantship.

Twenty-five years' active service on the New York police force—that is a record, indeed, for man or woman.

PROMOTED NINE YEARS AGO. And this quiet, unassuming, kindly woman, whose heart responds to every pathetic case of social wrong, received her high sergeant's rank nine years ago.

When you enter the woman's precinct, you are struck at once by seeing regular headquarters with the exception that women, instead of men, occupy the posts.

Past the court room there is a fine reading and reception room and further back there is the office of the commissioner—Mrs. George Loft. Upstairs there is a dormitory where girls in trouble are kept over night. There is a sanitary kitchen and a hall where the lectures are given for the thirty policemen, all trained social welfare workers.

But the force that impresses you most of all is the quiet women sitting at the desk by the door.

Stop and watch her a moment. First a small boy is hauled in by impresses the heinousness of the an irate man lamenting broken windows.

ASKS ANOTHER CHANCE

Mrs. Goodwin talks things over, offense to the boy and gets the man's permission to give him another chance to be good.

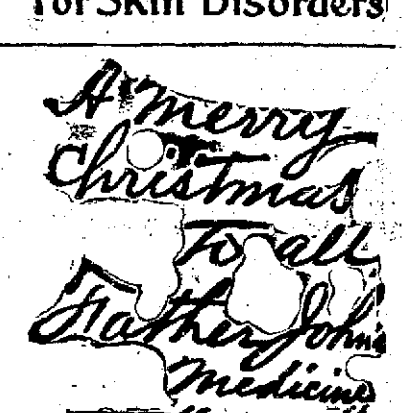

An excited Greek father enters—he wants his daughter to leave the factory where she is working for eighteen dollars a week and stop learning American freedom and come home and marry a man of his choice. A meeting is arranged for the next day between father and daughter to try and reach an amicable arrangement.

"Our work has done a great deal of good," says Mrs. Goodwin. "Our thirty women are out constantly, saving girls in dance halls, parks, investigating fortune tellers, spirit-u-alists, charlatans of all kinds."

"Yes, in my long years of social service I have never known a time when girls are so difficult to reach—so wild—giddy as now. It is because of the war and the free mixing of entertainers and relief workers in camps. Girls somehow are losing their domestic instincts."

POSTOFFICE HOURS MONDAY

Human Nature Revealed in Way Packages Are Tied.

While joy filled Lima people are marveling at the beautiful gifts given them by their friends and relatives, parcel post workers of the Lima post office, will be busily engaged in distributing thru the residential section of the city gifts that are late in coming to the postal windows.

Arrangements have been completed by Postmaster Gale to provide special parcel post delivery Sunday morning in residential districts of the city. Letters and cards will not be handled; only packages. Parcel deliveries will also be made Saturday night if necessary.

The special service comes as a result of the heaviest Christmas season ever experienced by the Lima postoffice.

Whether increase in population or increase in Yuletide spirit is shown by the mass of postal business officials declare they are unable to say, yet the fact remains that this season far surpasses any previous year.

G. F. Winemiller, superintendent of mails, has estimated that 700,000 letters have been handled in outgoing mail alone during Christmas week. He declares it is impossible to estimate the weight or value of Christmas parcels.

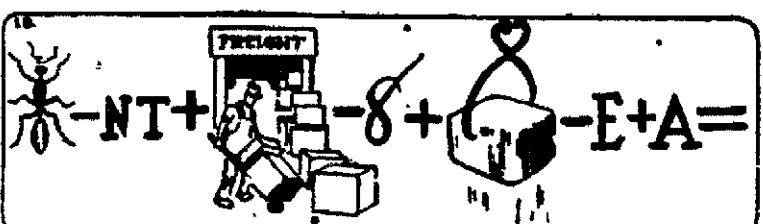

"Most of the rush was over by Friday afternoon," he said, "yet Saturday brought a lot of stragglers. You understand why that is. Many people will receive gifts from someone they have forgotten, rush to the postoffice at the last minute to slap a parcel delivery stamp on a package and let it go."

Another observation Winemiller made brings to light the fact that almost two-thirds of the packages mailed this year have been insured. He can offer no explanation for the extraordinary popularity of insurance this year for, he says, he is under the impression that many of the gifts this year are of less value than those of previous years, because of business conditions.

Postmaster A. E. Gale pointed out the difference in wrappings on packages that come to the postoffice.

"You can almost tell by the way

a package is wrapped, just what kind of people are mailing it," he said. "There is as much human nature and character in the wrappings as there is in the individual sending the package."

The post office this year has maintained a record of never closing a day without having cleaned up all work. Most of the employees have had to work overtime and some double time in order to do this, yet Winemiller proudly declares that despite the rush of business, they have been able to do the work in record time.

Each mail carrier has been provided with a helper, while 10 extra men were added to the force in the office.

The Sunday delivery of parcel post is one of the special features in the way of service offered this year. Monday, there will be one delivery of mail.

General delivery, stamp and money order windows at the postoffice open from 9 to 10 a. m. Monday. One complete mail delivery will be made in the morning on both city and rural routes.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MERCHANT BODY SOON

Annual meeting of the Lima Merchants' association will be held on or about Thursday, January 5, it was announced Saturday.

A general election of officers for 1922, the election of seven new directors to replace those whose terms expire this year, the adoption of a code of resolutions governing the proposed Better Business bureau and the reports of the president and secretary are among the major items of business to be transacted.

The functions of the Better Business bureau will be to eliminate unfair business methods and promote better advertising among local merchants. The bureau will be directly affiliated and will work in conjunction with the merchants' association.

RECOVERS FROM INJURY

YOUR MEMORIES

WHAT is your most pleasant memory? What do you look back to as the greatest event in your life? What is it that you turn to, in the past, to cheer you when you are down at the mouth?

Memory is man's greatest wealth. Memory atones for defeat. It sweetens the bitterness of present failure. It destroys the glamor of ill-gotten wealth. It illumines, with rosy colors, the drab and dreary now.

Memory is to life what the aurora borealis is in the black night of the far north.

If you are rich in memories, your life has been worth while.

YOUNG Stephen McKenna writes a book, "While I Remember." It smashes the established precedent that only old men are competent to write memoirs.

McKenna's memoirs are not of his own actions. They deal with the famous men and events with which he has come in contact. Such is one of the finest possible memories.

The privilege of being able to recall association with strong characters, mighty or humble, is a treasure that goes with us to the grave.

Like the rest of us, McKenna may want to revise his memoirs when he views them with the perspective of old age.

YOUTH lives in the present—in dreams. Old age lives in the past—in memories.

Now is the season of memories. The coming of the new year stirs the ashes of the past, reviving flames of recollection.

As the year closes, you look back to memories—of pleasant things like friendship, loves, noble deeds and strokes of fortune.

With such memories, a man can retain a certain happiness tho he lose his job, wealth, friends, loved ones, or be alone in the desert.

Moosehide Felvey, who made a million in the Yukon and squandered it, said, "I'd rather have the memories than the gold."

Memory is the one thing you can never escape.

What are you doing today that will be pleasant to remember or worth remembering in years to come? What are you storing in memory that you later will want to forget?

The secret of a happy life is to accumulate steadily a storehouse of precious, worth-while memories.

IN Upper Silesia, the average miner is digging 190 tons of coal a year, compared with 310 tons before the war. British miner's yearly output has dropped from 258 to 204 tons. That's an interesting sidelight on what's wrong with Europe.

In contrast, the American worker in nearly every industry is speeding up—producing more, since the war ended.

We'll be out of the woods before any other country. The American workman's best weapon against foreign goods is fast production. Increased production eventually means increased prosperity—for the producer and all others.

KIDDING THE NOBILITY

GEORGES CARPENTIER, who helped make Jack Dempsey pay a big income tax for 1921, will be made a nobleman January 1.

To honor Carp, the French government has invented a new decoration—the Order of Physical Education. Carp's title will be Officer. Descamps, his manager, will be made a Knight.

Apparently this elevates Carp to equal social standing with the Earl of Doltville or the Knights of the Golden Prune.

The French are a subtle people, adepts and past masters at delicate irony. On the surface, this making pugilism the doorway to nobility appears to be 14-karat. But—

The Frenchman who conceived the scheme probably was "kidding" the nobility of France's less democratic neighbors.

With a prizefighter's manager made a knight, we see the ruins to which the ancient system of noblesman has been reduced. It is more startling than finding a Russian grand duke washing dishes in an American restaurant.

And yet, by curious coincidence, the originals of long lines of earls, counts and dukes got their titles by serving as prizefighters.

The queen surrounded herself with a bodyguard of 200 prizefighters. They kissed their swords, swore to defend the queen with their lives. In exchange, they were knighted.

The majority of titles and nobility had their origin in fighting, especially warfare.

Titles are losing out as democracy gains control of the social system. Canada recently gave us a fine illustration when her people raised violent objections to the elevation of prominent Canadians to noble ranks, by the British crown.

Noblemen were the expression of destructive and parasitic forces that had free swing by keeping the people down.

The tide now runs in the other direction, with titles and medals conferred for constructive work. We have the Nobel prizes for each year's greatest literary, scientific, humanitarian and other contributions to the world.

We see inventors and engineers honored with international medals.

The overall is taking the place of the crown and coat-of-arms.

The Aristocracy of Public Service eclipses the knights, dukes, counts, barons, earls. That is progress.

THE GIFT OF GIVING

BY DR. WM. E. BARTON

In another day Christmas will be here. For weeks we have been reminded just how many days remained for shopping before the arrival of the anniversary. And now there are no more days remaining. This is the night before Christmas. It is a good time for a little quiet meditation. What is it all about? And why so much trouble about it?

You have seen people hurrying home with packages, belated Christmas purchases. You have some packages of your own hidden away. And you have something amounting to more than a suspicion that somebody has something for you.

these packages is that they were not bought for the buyers. If the monthly purchases of December could be analyzed, they would show this notable feature as compared with those of the other 11 months—very few of them in comparison are made for the purchaser himself. For about a month everybody has been doing things for other people.

Some of them have done it grudgingly and without much love of what they were doing and they will grumble on January 1 when the bills come in; but even those people have had a month, more or less, of thinking of others, and planning for them and giving to them.

The conspiracies of December have been conspiracies of love. The whisperings and hidings have been prompted by self-forgetfulness. There had been a kind of epidemic of altruism and not all of it has been altruism. Business has been improved and the tone of the community has been helped because people were thinking about others than themselves.

And all this links itself somehow with the Babe in the manger and the fact that men believe that in Him they recognize God's self-denying love for his children. Every man who is reminded tomorrow how much he loves his children, every man who is reminded how many people care for him, owes something to an event that occurred about 1900 years ago, and which renews its memories once a year at Christmas time.

BILLY EVANS SAYS NEW YORK GOT BEST OF DEAL WITH BOSTON RED SOX

BY BILLY EVANS

WHENEVER a trade of any importance is made, there is always much argument as to the relative merits of the deal.

There is no argument as far as the New York-Boston transaction is concerned. It was all New York.

In Joe Bush and Sam Jones, the Yankees acquire two great pitchers. In Everett Scott, New York gets one of the greatest shortstops in the history of the game.

In return for Scott, the Yankees gave one of the game's best infielders, Peckinpaugh. That part of the transaction is about all even.

The pitching end of it is all New York.

Boston gets Jack Quinn, a veteran pitcher, who always did good work, but who has passed the peak of his usefulness, and is fast going the other way.

"Rip" Collins is a pitcher who has as much stuff as any pitcher that ever graced a pitching mound. Control however is unknown to "Rip." He just throws the old ball and has hopes. Incidentally he doesn't take the pastime seriously. Probably he would much prefer pitching for dear old Dallas, Texas, the salary being equal.

Piercy is a young pitcher with a world of stuff and great possibilities. It will be up to him to make the most of them.

There is no argument on the Boston side of the deal, New York skimmed all the cream. The deal between Cleveland and Boston is far more interesting. Since the trade was put over, baseball fans all over the country have been trying to dope out what it means to the two clubs involved.

In McInnis, Cleveland gets a great first baseman. It is impossible to compute the real value of a star player like McInnis. His presence in the infield steadies the entire combination, adds confidence to the entire club, the rest of the infield in particular. In addition to being one of the greatest fielders in the game, he is a fine hitter and a brainy ball player.

The addition of McInnis to the Cleveland ball club is going to add much strength to the team. A great deal more than appears on the surface.

The Boston-Cleveland deal really resolves itself into a comparison between Smith and McInnis. The other players who figured are purely incidental.

Smith is a hard hitter against right-handed pitching. He has never done much against southpaws. Lately he has greatly improved his fielding.

If I was manager of a ball club I would hate to lose Smith. If it was necessary to part with him to secure McInnis, I would be forced to set aside my feelings and part with him.

St. Rose Hi Wins From Sidney '5'

St. Rose Hi enacted another game to their string of victories Friday night when they defeated the Sidney quintet by a score of 17 to 10 in one of the classiest exhibitions of the cage sport ever witnessed in the downstate city.

Three weeks ago St. Rose defeated the same team here 40 to 5, but the Sidney game has improved since that time in all departments of the game and had the advantage of playing on their own floor.

KEPT 'EM GUESSING

Coach Bob Baker's boys trotted out on the floor filled with enthusiasm and from the first blast of the referee's whistle started a pace which their opponents were unable to block.

Jim Daley, St. Rose's star forward, easily outclassed any other man on the floor and slipped in three neat field goals right under the nose of two guards who had been set to watch him.

DALEY IS STAR

Daley worked himself out of the trap many times but the system probably kept him from making more sensational shots. Wells, Daley's running mate, was credited with making two field goals and he performed brilliantly during the entire game. Captain Cunningham played a good defensive game at center, but was unable to score.

The line-up and summary follows:

St. Rose (17) Wells, rf, Daley, lf, Cunningham, c, Schmiesing rg, Buchanan lg.

Holy Angels (10) H. Saffera rf, Ochensels lf, Wagoner c, E. Saffera rg, C. Keeler lg.

Summary—Substitutions—Run-inger for Buchanan, Paulin for Keeler. Field Goals—Wells 2, Daley 3, Schmiesing 1, Buchanan 1, Kuning-er 1, Ochensels 1, Wagoner 1. Foul Goals—Wells 1, Ochensels 6. Referee—Brown.

COACH YOST HAS DEVELOPED HALF THE PLAYERS SELECTED TEN MICHIGAN PLAYERS HAVE BEEN SO HONORED FROM MIDDLE WEST ON CAMP'S ALL-AMERICAN ELEVEN

TEN members of Michigan football teams have been selected by Walter Camp for his honor eleven.

All players picked by Mr. Camp were developed by Fielding Harris Yost, football coach at Michigan. No other coach has ever had as many men selected.

Nearly one-half of the players picked from the middle west by Mr. Camp have been members of Michigan teams.

Willie Heston, halfback and "Germany" Schultz, center, on Mr. Camp's All-Time All-American eleven both played football for Michigan.

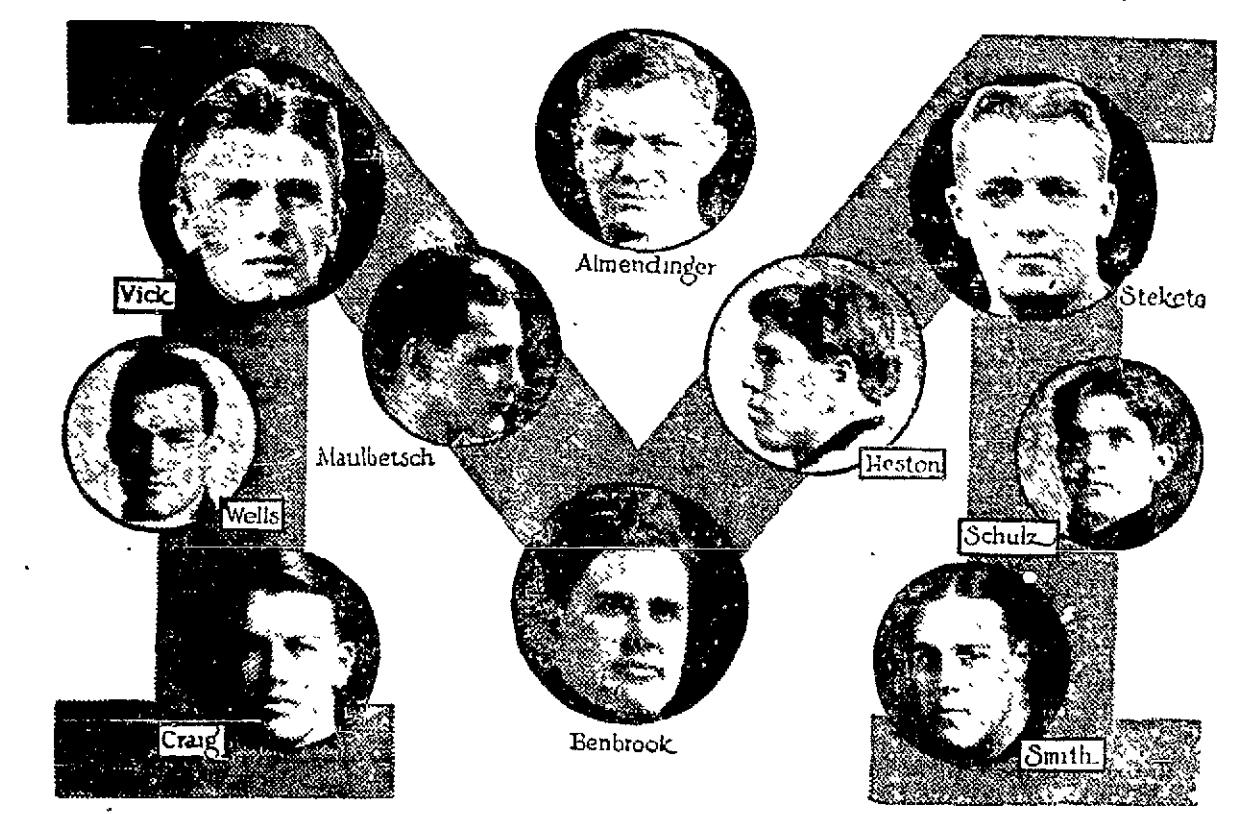

The Michigan players honored are: Willie Heston, halfback, 1903-'04. "Germany" Schultz, center, 1907. "Benny" Benbrook, guard, 1909-'10.

Stanley Wells, end, 1910. Jimmy Craig, halfback, 1913. Johnny Maubetsch, 1914.

"Pat" Smith, fullback (Service team), 1917. "Aqua" Allmendinger, guard (Service team), 1917.

Frank Steketee, fullback, 1918. Ernie Vick, center, 1921.

Schultz tried out as guard when he came to Michigan and Yost converted him into a center. Vick, this year's All-American center, was originally a halfback. Wells, picked at end, was made into an end by Yost after he played tackle. Craig, one of the best backs the west has produced, came to Yost as an end.

In 1917 Camp did not select an All-American college team, but he selected an All-American Service team. Smith was playing at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station at fullback and was selected All-American fullback on Camp's All-American Service team. He was captain-elect of the University of Michigan 1917 team, but went into the service. Allmendinger, formerly a great Michigan guard, was playing on the Fort Sheridan Training Corps team and was selected by Camp as All-American guard on Camp's 1917 All-American Service team.

Kalida Defeats Grove City 31-26

KALIDA.—The Kalida Triangles Friday night won their 20th consecutive victory when they defeated the Grove City team on the local floor, 31 to 26.

The game was a fast one from start to finish. At no time, save in the windup, was either team more than two baskets ahead.

The triangles have a record of unbroken victory. They have not lost a game this season. The local team is seeking new fields to conquer and is open to engagements with fast fives from any city.

New Contender Looms For Jack

NEW YORK.—Frank Rose, a Bohemian heavyweight, has been suggested to Tex Rickard as a possible contender for Jack Dempsey's title.

Rose is 24 years old, weighs 185 pounds and stands 5 feet 11 inches. Ottokar Bartik, Rose's manager, declared that the Bohemian pugilist has engaged in 100 ring battles in Central Europe and had yet to be knocked off his feet. Bartik told Rickard that Rose would arrive in this country early next year and will be willing to meet any American heavyweights.

Prof Lands Hard Blow At Sport

BOSTON, Mass.—The tendency of college football stars to become coaches at big salaries after graduation was decried today by President Remson B. Ogilby, of Trinity College, New England representative in the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Pointing out that intercollegiate competitions inspire intense play in contrast with the lack of fire that marks contests between professional teams, he added "It is small wonder that it is the college stadium that is always filled to capacity for a big game."

TWO MUCH MONEY

"The difficulty comes when this intense interest in college athletics is exploited by individuals and organizations for its money value. To my mind, the chief problem in college athletics today is not the endeavor on the part of individual colleges to offer financial or other inducements to strengthen their teams. Colleges with ideals do not do this and, so far, no means have been successful in preventing colleges with low ideals of accomplishment.

"The greater problem is when pressure is brought to bear upon an athlete who has made a reputation as a college amateur to use his prowess for financial gain. It is not a good situation when a gridiron hero gets a salary running into four or five figures as a coach for three or four years after graduation.

YOUR MEMORIES

WHAT is your most pleasant memory? What do you look back to as the greatest event in your life? What is it that you turn to, in the past, to cheer you when you are down at the mouth?

Memory is man's greatest wealth. Memory atones for defeat. It sweetens the bitterness of present failure. It destroys the glamor of ill-gotten wealth. It illumines, with rosy colors, the drab and dreary now.

Memory is to life what the aurora borealis is in the black night of the far north.

If you are rich in memories, your life has been worth while.

YOUNG Stephen McKenna writes a book, "White I Remember." It smashes the established precedent that only old men are competent to write memoirs.

McKenna's memoirs are not of his own actions. They deal with the famous men and events with which he has come in contact. Such is one of the finest possible memoirs.

The privilege of being able to recall association with strong characters, mighty or humble, is a treasure that goes with us to the grave.

Like the rest of us, McKenna may want to revise his memoirs when he views them with the perspective of old age.

YOUTH lives in the present—in dreams. Old age lives in the past—in memories.

Now is the season of memories. The coming of the new year stirs the ashes of the past, reviving flames of recollection.

As the year closes, you look back to memories—of pleasant things like friendship, loves, noble deeds and strokes of fortune.

With such memories, a man can retain a certain happiness tho he lose his job, wealth, friends, loved ones, or be alone in the desert.

Moosehide Felvey, who made a million in the Yukon and squandered it, said, "I'd rather have the memories than the gold."

Memory is the one thing you can never escape.

What are you doing today that will be pleasant to remember or worth remembering in years to come? What are you storing in memory that you later will want to forget?

The secret of a happy life is to accumulate steadily a storehouse of precious, worth-while memories.

MORE

IN Upper Silesia, the average miner is digging 190 tons of coal a year, compared with 310 tons before the war. British miner's yearly output has dropped from 258 to 204 tons. That's an interesting sidelight on what's wrong with Europe.

In contrast, the American worker in nearly every industry is speeding up—producing more, since the war ended.

We'll be out of the woods before any other country. The American workman's best weapon against foreign goods is fast production. Increased production eventually means increased prosperity—for the producer and all others.

KIDDING THE NOBILITY

GEORGES CARPENTIER, who helped make Jack Dempsey pay a big income tax for 1921, will be made a nobleman January 1.

To honor Carp, the French government has invented a new decoration—the Order of Physical Education. Carp's title will be Officer. Descamps, his manager, will be made a Knight.

Apparently this elevates Carp to equal social standing with the Earl of Doltville or the Knights of the Golden Prune.

The French are a subtle people, adepts and past masters at delicate irony. On the surface, this making pugilism the doorway to nobility appears to be 14-karat. But—

The Frenchman who conceived the scheme probably was "kidding" the nobility of France's less democratic neighbors.

With a prizefighter's manager made a knight, we see the ruins to which the ancient system of nobility has been reduced. It is more startling than finding a Russian grand duke washing dishes in an American restaurant.

And yet, by curious coincidence, the originals of long lines of earls, counts and dukes got their titles by serving as prizefighters.

The queen surrounded herself with a bodyguard of 200 prizefighters. They kissed their swords, swore to defend the queen with their lives. In exchange, they were knighted.

The majority of titles and nobility had their origin in fighting, especially warfare.

Titles are losing out as democracy gains control of the social system. Canada recently gave us a fine illustration when her people raised violent objections to the elevation of prominent Canadians to noble ranks, by the British crown.

Noblemen were the expression of destructive and parasitic forces that had free swing by keeping the people down.

The tide now runs in the other direction, with titles and medals conferred for constructive work. We have the Nobel prizes for each year's greatest literary, scientific, humanitarian and other contributions to the world.

We see inventors and engineers honored with international medals.

The overall is taking the place of the crown and coat-of-arms.

The Aristocracy of Public Service eclipses the knights, dukes, counts, barons, earls. That is progress.

THE GIFT OF GIVING

BY DR. WM. E. BARTON
In another day Christmas will be here. For weeks we have been reminded just how many days remained for shopping before the arrival of the anniversary. And now there are no more days remaining. This is the night before Christmas. It is a good time for a little quiet meditation. What is it all about? And why so much trouble about it? You have seen people hurrying home with packages, belated Christmas purchases. You have seen packages of your own hidden away. And you have something amounting to more than a suspicion that somebody has something for you. The remarkable thing about all these packages is that they were not bought for the buyers. If the monthly purchases of December could be analyzed, they would show this notable feature as compared with those of the other 11 months—very few of them in comparison are made for the purchaser himself. For about a month everybody has been doing things for other people.

Some of them have done it grudgingly and without much love of what they were doing and they will grumble on January 1 when the bills come in; but even those people have had a month, more or less, of thinking of others, and planning for them and giving to them.

The conspiracies of December have been conspiracies of love. The whisperings and hidings have been prompted by self-forgetfulness. There had been a kind of epidemic of altruism and not all of it has been artificial. Business has been improved and the tone of the community has been helped because people were thinking about others than themselves.

And all this links itself somehow with the Babe in the manger and the fact that men believe that in Him they recognize God's self-denying love for his children. Every man who is reminded tomorrow how much he loves his children, every man who is reminded how many people care for him, owes something to an event that occurred about 1900 years ago, and which renews its memories once a year at Christmas time.

Billy Evans says

DURING the progress of the recent major league meetings in New York the front page and the sport page of the newspaper were filled with the testimony in the trial involving the racehorse Playfellow.

Playfellow is a full brother of the famous Man o' War. That, of course, was a big boost for Playfellow. Figuring the odds, one would naturally expect Playfellow to be considerable of a racing horse.

Harry Sinclair, the millionaire oil magnate who dabbles in the racing game merely for the pleasure he gets out of it, took a liking to Playfellow. Being related to Man o' War, Sinclair naturally thought he was O. K.

However, to be on the safe side, he had his trainer look the horse over. Playfellow is good to look at. It is alleged that his owner pronounced the horse physically fit.

Sinclair paid $100,000 for Playfellow. Shortly after he bought the horse he discovered Playfellow was far from being fit. He proved to be a windsucker and a cribber.

A windsucker is a horse afflicted with breathing faults. Instead of breathing naturally, a windsucker when running keeps the mouth open and sucks in wind, which affects his stamina and speed. A cribber is a horse that keeps nibbling at the side of the stall. While such a habit seldom injures the horse to any extent, it doesn't improve him.

Instead of getting a great horse in Playfellow, Sinclair felt he had been sold a bad case for a settlement.

Evidently what happened to Sinclair threw a scare into the magnates. All of them must have read the facts as brought out in the Playfellow suit.

Most of the magnates at the meeting talked in whispers, and moved about the hotel lobby in a mysterious way. It seemed that each one was afraid the other was trying to gold-brick him. The moment a player was offered in trade or sale, the other magnates began to wonder if something was wrong with that particular player.

It seemed that no one wanted to have a windsucker or a cribber slipped on him. That, perhaps, explains the failure for several trades to go through.

It wouldn't surprise me if within the next month a number of the deals hatched at the meeting were put over.

BILLY EVANS SAYS NEW YORK GOT BEST OF DEAL WITH BOSTON RED SOX

BY BILLY EVANS

WHENEVER a trade of any importance is made, there is always much argument as to the relative merits of the deal.

There is no argument as far as the New York-Boston transaction is concerned. It was all New York.

In Joe Bush and Sam Jones, the Yankees acquire two great pitchers. In Everett Scott, New York gets one of the greatest shortstops in the history of the game.

In return for Scott, the Yankees gave one of the game's best infielders, Peckinpaugh. That part of the transaction is about all even. The pitching end of it is all New York.

Boston gets Jack Quinn, a veteran pitcher, who always did good work, but who has passed the peak of his usefulness, and is fast going the other way.

"Rip" Collins is a pitcher who has as much stuff as any pitcher that ever graced a pitching mound. Control however is unknown to "Rip." He just throws the old pill and has hopes. Incidentally he doesn't take the pastime seriously. Probably he would much prefer pitching for dear old Dallas, Texas, the salary being equal.

Piercy is a young pitcher with a world of stuff and great possibilities. It will be up to him to make the most of them.

There is no argument on the Boston side of the deal, New York skimmed all the cream. The deal between Cleveland and Boston is far more interesting. Since the trade was put over, baseball fans all over the country have been trying to dope out what it means to the two clubs involved.

In McInnis, Cleveland gets a great first baseman. It is impossible to compute the real value of a star player like McInnis. His presence in the infield steadies the entire combination, adds confidence to the entire club, the rest of the infield in particular. In addition to being one of the greatest fielders in the game, he is a fine hitter and a brainy ball player.

The addition of McInnis to the Cleveland ball club is going to add much strength to the team. A great deal more than appears on the surface.

The Boston-Cleveland deal really resolves itself into a comparison between Smith and McInnis. The other players who figured are purely incidental.

Smith is a hard hitter against right-handed pitching. He has never done much against southpaws. Lately he has greatly improved his fielding.

If I was manager of a ball club I would hate to lose Smith. If it was necessary to part with him to secure McInnis, I would be forced to set aside my feelings and part with him.

St. Rose Hi Wins From Sidney '5'

St. Rose Hi enacted another game to their string of victories Friday night when they defeated the Sidney quintet by a score of 17 to 10 in one of the classiest exhibitions of the cage sport ever witnessed in the downstate city.

Three weeks ago St. Rose defeated the same team here 40 to 5, but the Sidney aggregation had improved since that time in all departments of the game and had the advantage of playing on their own floor.

KEPT 'EM GUESSING

Coach Bob Baker's boys trotted out on the floor filled with enthusiasm and from the first blast of the referee's whistle started a pace which their opponents were unable to block.

Jim Daley, St. Rose's star forward, easily outclassed any other man on the floor and slipped in three neat field goals right under the nose of two guards who had been set to watch him.

DALEY IS STAR

Daley worked himself out of the trap many times but the system probably kept him from making more sensational shots. Wells, Daley's running mate, was credited with making two field goals and he performed brilliantly during the entire game. Captain Cunningham played a good defensive game at center, but was unable to score.

The line-up and summary follows:

St. Rose (17) Wells, rf, Daley, lf, Cunningham, c, Schmiesing rg, Buchanan lg.

Holy Angels (10) H. Saffena rf, Ochensels lf, Wagoner c, E. Saffena lg, C. Keeler lg.

Summary—Substitutions—Run-inger for Buchanan, Paulin for Keeler, Field Goals—Wells 2, Daley 3, Schmiesing 1, Buchanan 1, Runinger 1, Ochensels 1, Wagoner 1, Foul Goals—Wells 1, Ochensels 6. Referee—Brown.

COACH YOST HAS DEVELOPED HALF THE PLAYERS SELECTED TEN MICHIGAN PLAYERS HAVE BEEN SO HONORED FROM MIDDLE WEST ON CAMP'S ALL-AMERICAN ELEVEN

TEN members of Michigan football teams have been selected by Walter Camp for his honor eleven.

All players picked by Mr. Camp were developed by Fielding Harris Yost, football coach at Michigan. No other coach has ever had as many men selected.

Nearly one-half of the players picked from the middle west by Mr. Camp have been members of Michigan teams.

Willie Heston, halfback and "Germany" Schultz, center, on Mr. Camp's All-Time All-American eleven both played football for Michigan.

The Michigan players honored are: Willie Heston, halfback, 1903-'04. "Germany" Schultz, center, 1907. "Benny" Benbrook, guard, 1909-'10.

Stanley Wells, end, 1910. Jimmy Craig, halfback, 1913. Johnny Maulbetsch, 1914.

"Pat" Smith, fullback (Service team), 1917.

"Aqua" Allmendinger, guard (Service team), 1917.

Frank Stokette, fullback, 1918.

Ernie Vick, center, 1921.

Schultz tried out as guard when he came to Michigan and Yost converted him into a center. Vick, this year's All-American center, was originally a halfback. Wells, picked at end, was made into an end by Yost after he played tackle. Craig, one of the best backs the west has produced, came to Yost as an end.

In 1917 Camp did not select an All-American college team, but he selected an All-American Service team. Smith was playing at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station at fullback and was selected All-American fullback on Camp's All-American Service team. He was captain-elect of the University of Michigan 1917 team, but went into the service. Allmendinger, formerly a great Michigan guard, was playing on the Fort Sheridan Training Corps team and was selected by Camp as All-American guard on Camp's 1917 All-American Service team.

New Contender Looms For Jack

NEW YORK.—Frank Rose, a Bohemian heavyweight, has been suggested to Tex Rickard as a possible contender for Jack Dempsey's title. Rose is 28 years old, weighs 185 pounds and stands 5 feet 11 inches.

Ottakar Bartik, Rose's manager, declared that the Bohemian pugilist has engaged in 100 ring battles in Central Europe and had yet to be knocked off his feet. Bartik told Rickard that Rose would arrive in this country early next year and will be willing to meet any American heavyweight Rickard might name.

Prof Lands Hard Blow At Sport

BOSTON, Mass.—The tendency of college football stars to become coaches at big salaries after graduation was decried today by President Remson B. Ogilby, of Trinity College, New England representative in the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Pointing out that intercollegiate competitions inspire intense play in contrast with the lack of fire that marks contests between professional teams, he
